IT IS YOUR GOOD LUCK

If you are a prospective buyer of anything in the house furnishing line to have a chance to buy from a well-filled store—or, in other words, a complete stock of all new goods—and we are sure this is the place. This week we are showing in our window a Four-piece

Dining Suit, containing a Pedestal Table, Buffet, China Cabinet and Serving Table, complete for $59.00. It will pay you to look this over, for this price is less than the regular jobber's price. We buy from the factory and save our customers the jobber's commission.

"A Lamb From Wall Street."

This unique musical play, which is to be given its first production on any stage at the Barre opera house Monday and Tuesday evenings by Florence Kramer and her company for the benefit of the Intercity Athletic Association, is bound to prove a pleasing entertainment to the lovers of dramatic novelty. Unlike most musical plays, "A Lamb From Wall Street" has a funny melodramatic plot. It does not depend on the old familiar "mistaken identity" idea for its action. The comedy is so strong that there is a laugh in every line. Miss Kramer in the title role assumes the character of a young man who has lost his fortune in Wall Street. The young lady is today one of the best impersonators of male roles in the profession.

This latest play by Mr. Lapoint is said to far surpass any previous effort, and good dramatic critics predict a New York season for a "Lamb From Wall Street."
